

Golden seal of approval for show

BILL Davis, chairman of the British Tourist Authority and English Tourist Board, declared himself "spellbound" by the Legendary Last Labyrinth electronic theatre show at Land's End.

"I have visited tourist attractions all over the world and this is one of the finest I have seen anywhere," he said during his visit.

"It bears comparison with even the finest audio visual shows in Disneyland. The Last Labyrinth is certainly one of the best of its kind - if not the best - in Europe."
